

To The Special Magistrate, Lahore.

Case.- Crown vs. Sukh Dev and others.
Charge:- Under Section 302, I.P.C., etc.

343

Sir,

I learn that the accused have applied for a c of the statement made by ~~Surendra Nath~~ Phanindra Nath Gosh , appro before the Police. Certain portions of the statemen made by the approver before the Police are in my opinion inexpedient in the public interests to be furnished to the accused, and I therefore request that while referring to the above mentioned state you may kindly exclude such parts as you find inexpedient in the public interests to be furnished the accused, under Section 162, Cr.P.C.

I beg to remain,
Sir,
Your most obedient servant,

17.3.1930.

Prosecuting Inspector.

(4) Nine months into the trial before the special tribunal, and just as it was to end and be transferred to a specially constituted tribunal on 5 May 1930, a legion of demands from the accused had built up. Nothing demonstrates this better than these ten grievances. By now, it had dawned on the prisoners, in what will be a case which ‘will yet take a very long time’ with charges ‘of a very serious nature’, that it was important to recognize ‘that the petitioners are being deprived of the fundamental right of being defended by a counsel as they are not permitted to see their attorneys and
