8. The Union Cabinet minister of food processing in the Government of India and member of Parliament in the Lok Sabha from Bathinda is Harsimrat Kaur Badal. She is also the daughter-in-law of Prakash Singh Badal, who served as chief minister of Punjab many times. Her brother is Bikram Singh Majithia, who is a former cabinet minister in the Punjab government. Their great-great-grandfather was Sir Sunder Singh Majithia, who hosted a special dinner for General Dyer on the evening following the Jallianwala Bagh Massacre, on 13 April 1919, and then went on to be knighted in 1926 for services to King and Empire. Both these politicians have asked for apologies from the British government for past atrocities. Even more striking is the example of Giani Arur Singh, who was a former jathedar (head priest) of Sri Akal Takht (the Amritsar Sikh temple). After the Jallianwala Bagh Massacre, he presented to Lieutenant Governor O'Dwyer a 'siropa', the word being adapted from Persian 'sar-o-pa' (meaning 'head and foot') or 'sarapa' (head to foot), which denotes an honorary dress. It is used by Sikhs to refer to the award of a garment, scarf or a length of cloth when it is
