4.1. Introduction

CASE STUDY

Have you heard about Waymo car? A car without brakes, accelerators or steering wheel – a driverless car is indeed a dream come true.

Google started testing self-driving technology with the Toyota Prius on freeways in California in 2009.

A new development was the unveiling of a new prototype vehicle in 2014, capable of being a fully self-driving car. These intelligent cars use sensors and software to detect objects like pedestrians, cyclists and can safely drive around them. According to Google, the car can process both map and sensor information to find out its exact location - precisely which street or lane it is driving in. The sensors are so powerful that it can detect all kinds of objects. What's more interesting, the software can predict what these objects around the car will do next and take action accordingly.
