3. Prevention of disease
4. Treatment of illness
5. Relief of suffering and promoting the comfort of the client
6. Support and assurance to patient and family

Principles of Home care

1. Establish good interpersonal relationship with family and others.
2. Collect information regarding the family size, education, occupation, religion, customs, and traditions.
3. Identify the health problem and set Priorities to deal.
4. Proper Health Education
5. Help the family members to plan and carry out the needed action.
6. Help the family to meet their needs and to improve the health, nutrition and the welfare of the family.
7. Coordinate with Health Care team.

Types of Home Care

1. Home based Primary care
2. Transitional care
3. Population focused Home care
4. Hospice care

Persons Who Provide Home care

a) Registered Nurse
b) Physiotherapist
c) Occupational Therapist

Conditions which can be dealt in the home.

- Wound Care - Pressure sores or Surgical wound
- Care of the old age and handicapped persons
- Patient and caregiver education (Health Education)
- Intravenous Nutrition therapy
- Rehabilitation therapy
- Vaccination against infectious diseases such as H1N1, Typhoid and Hepatitis
- Post operative care - pain, feeding, respiratory and fluid management
- Urinary Catheterization Care
- Oxygen Administration
- Injections or IV infusion
- Physiotherapy

Advantages of home health care

1. Cheaper
2. Effective
3. Personalized nursing care at home setting
4. Convenient
5. Helps to recover faster
6. Gives an older adult a some of independence by offering an important measure of control over day to day events.
7. Home care improves quality of care provided and increased patient satisfaction.

Role of a Nurse in Home care

1. Monitor vital signs
2. Regular monitoring of the treatment course.
3. Pain management and relief from discomfort.
4. Provision of safety measures at home.
5. Educate the patient and family members regarding self care.
6. Coordinate and communicate with the doctor regarding the course of treatment.

1. Care of the sick in the Home

The health personal may be called to see the person who is sick in the home and realizes the individual needs of the family members and take care of them according to the needs.

Assess the Patient carefully in good light

- General appearance
- Colour of the skin, eyes or any other signs of illness

Practical 1-8.indd 315 09-03-2020 15:33:10