Harrapan decline. Some scholars suggest that the Aryans invaded and pillaged the area, which left many people displaced. Evidence for this theory comes from the vitrification of certain sections in Mohenjo-Daro. Certain areas appear as if they came into contact with large amounts of heat. Whenever this phenomenon is observed at other sites across the world, usually fighting is believed to have been the cause. Conspiracy theorists have also suggested that the city was destroyed by aliens but these ‘theories’ are not believable and are instantly discredited.