random. If the Rails server is running and the schedule page is open, sometime over the next minute the page will poll for new data and the page will change in response.