5

A Rough Crossing

If things had settled down in Tuticorin’s wharves with SSNCo’s burgeoning business, all was not well in the SSNCo’s boardroom. Fault lines had emerged even by mid-1907, soon after the steamers had been acquired.