[38] Laxon and Perry, BI: The British India Steam Navigation Company Limited, p. 21.

[39] Munro, Maritime Enterprise and Empire, p. 314.

[40] I use Agent(s) in the capital to refer to firms formally appointed by a company ('the principal') to perform specific roles (described below) in the ports while 'agent(s)' in lower case refers to an employee working on a salary or on a commission basis to carry out specific tasks.

[41] BIS/7/26. BISN Papers, National Maritime Museum, London.

[42] Ibid.

[43] BIS/29/5–7. BISN Papers.

[44] Brown, From Calcutta to Bombay Coasting, p. 56.

[45] Blake, B.I. Centenary, p. 13. Knight (ed.), Guide to the Manuscripts on the National Maritime Museum, vol. 2, pp. 27–30.

[46] Rungta, 'Corporate Management: The Managing Agency System', Rise of Business Corporations in India, provides the best summation of the system.

[47] Brown, Parry's of Madras, p. 145.

[48] Munro, Maritime Enterprise and Empire, pp. 152, 298, 316.

[49] Ibid., p. 321.

[50] Mehta, Indian Shipping, p. 72.

[51] Ibid., p. 71.

[52] Blake, B.I. Centenary, p. 51.

[53] Ibid., p. 51.

[54] Munro, Maritime Enterprise and Empire, p. 67.

[55] Ibid., p. 139.

[56] House of Binny, p. 144.

[57] Brodie, Dictionary of Shipping Terms, p. 123.

[58] House of Binny, p. 69. At the time of our study the following rates applied: Freight and passage money—engaged and collected: 4 per cent; payable at destination 2½ per cent; inward collecting 1½ per cent; special flat rate of 2½ per cent for Galle and Colombo; Transhipment freight—paid at port of shipment: 4 per cent to first port of transhipment and 2 per cent from there to destination; payable at port of destination: 2½ per cent and 1½ per cent respectively. See House of Binny, p. 153. These were the