[61] The Tuticorin agent for both these classification societies was the Madura and Company, managed by the same Harvey Brothers who were BI's Tuticorin Agents—this was a clear case of conflict of interest, but imperial interests overruled moral qualms.

[65] There are other conflicting reports. An officer of the Government of Madras' Marine Department noted the following: 'There is a steamer Lawoe, in Lloyd's Register (1906–1907) entered as belonging to W. Ruys and Zonen of Rotterdam. Whether it is the same vessel acquired by the Swadeshi Steam Navigation Co. cannot be said.' G.O. no. 363, Marine, 12-9-1907. Bande Mataram (10-5-1907) stated that 'the present owners were M. Jebsen & Co., Hamburg'. It also stated that the sale would be effected in Bombay in a week pending approval of the Company. It is not clear when the sale took place.
