11. Work stability
12. Initiative
13. Control
14. Espirit de corps (Union is Strength)

The principles are discussed below:

1. Division of work

It refers to the division of work among various individuals in the organization. It brings about specialization in every activity. The idea of this principle will save the time and energy needed to complete a task and increase the speed, accuracy and efficiency of work. With the increase in size of establishment, the principle of division of work becomes more applicable.

2. Authority and Responsibility

"Authority is the right or power to give orders to the subordinates". Responsibility means "the duty which the subordinate is expected to perform by merit of his position. "For E.g.: In the task of meal preparation, the production manager might delegate to the head chef in the kitchen. It is the responsibility of the chef to ensure the right menu, portion control, quality, and customer satisfaction.

3. Discipline

The principle of discipline covers punctuality, courtesy, obedience, respect, adherence to rules and regulations. All of these are essential for smooth running of food service establishments.

4. Unity of Command

Unity of command emphasizes that one subordinate should receive orders from one superior only and he is answerable to him. This helps to avoid confusion regarding what has to be done, when it is to be done and how it is to be done. If orders are obtained from more than one superior then it leads to disorganized performance.

5. Unity of Direction

Without proper direction the unity of command cannot be achieved. This principle is essential to focus on efforts, the unity of action, and co-ordination of strength.

6. Subordination of individual goals to the general goal

This principle is important for the success of any establishment. Priority should be given to organization's benefits/ objectives/interest over the personal benefits/objectives/interest. The manager directs the employees in such a manner that subordinates work for their objective and ultimately the organizational objective is achieved.

7. Payment or Remuneration

Fair wages must be provided to all employees/staff so as to motivate them to do their best.
