Lazy Susan

A lazy Susan is a circular rotating tray placed at the centre of a table and used to easily share number of dishes among the various dishes. They are made of glass, wood or plastic. One should try to avoid moving the Lazy Susan cover slightly, when someone is in the act of transferring food from the dishes to their plate or bowl.

bitter, sour, astringent and spicy on one single plate. It is commonly followed in Northern India.

Dishes served in a Thali vary from region to region. Dishes are usually served in small bowls called 'Katori'. These katories are placed at the edge of the round tray or a steel tray with multiple compartments. Typical dishes include rice, dhal, vegetables, roti, papad, dahi (yoghurt), small amounts of chutney or pickle and a sweet dish. Sometimes a round cut banana leaf is placed on the plate for serving.

b. Banana leaf service

Banana leaf service is a traditional method of serving rich dishes in south Indian cuisine. Cleaned banana leaves are used for serving food. When food is served on banana leaves, the leaves add distinctive aromas and add taste to the food.

In banana leaf meals, white rice is served on a banana leaf with an assortment of vegetables, pickles, papad and other regional condiments. Traditionally there will be two servings of rice with the first being served with gravy or sambar, than pulikuzhambu, rasam and finally with the second serve of rice with curd or butter milk. In Chettinad cuisine boiled eggs, curried or fried meat or seafood are served as well. Banana leaf meals are eaten by hand. After finishing the meal the guest must always fold the banana leaf inward to show the sign of gratitude. Even this etiquette is followed in a restaurant.
