Semantic	Semantic is used to describe things that deal with the meanings of words and sentences.
Grapevine communication	Grapevine communication is a form of informal communication. It arises due to the co-existence of people.
Pre-thinking	Pre-thinking about the message is an important quality of effective communication.
Completeness	Effective communication transmits a complete message so that the receiver can understand the full meaning of the message.
Correctness	the effective communication contains only the correct messages.
Persuasiveness	persuasiveness is an important quality of effective communication.
Feedback	Effective communication always keeps the provisions of feedback.
Mutual interest	When communication considers the interest of both sender and receiver, it is treated as effective communication.
Effective Listening	The communicator is also an effective listener.
Concreteness	Business communication becomes effective-when it excludes irrelevant facts.
Conciseness	Another important quality of effective communication is that the message should be concise.
Timeliness	Usefulness of any message depends on its timely transmission.
Communication Gap	Communication Gap is when the meaning intended by the speaker or sender is not what is understood by the recipient.
Mistrust	If there is mistrust between two employees or groups, communication gap emerges, because either of them does not either want to convey proper message or does not convey the message at all.
Body language and tone	Maintaining body language as well as tone in an acceptable manner while communicating is one of the most important things to do in the workplace.
Channel	The means of transmitting information between a sender and receiver is one of the most important factors to affect the communication process.
Physical barriers	open plan building designs are attractive as they allow colleagues to communicate quickly and efficiently.
Perceptual barriers	While physical barriers are easy to see, perceptual barriers are those you erect in your mind.
Emotional barriers	Self-confidence plays an enormous role in breaking down psychological barriers.
Cultural barriers	Modern business is conducted in a global community, whether it's the mix of staff in the workplace, or working with colleagues, suppliers, and retailers in other parts of the world.
Language barriers	Communicating with people whose native language is not English can pose problems.
Gender barriers	men and women are different, and while workplace relations between genders have improved astronomically over recent years, there are times when communications break down for one reason or another.
Interpersonal barriers	poor self-esteem or an inability to make connections with others can prohibit us from actually communicating with our colleagues.
Removing communication barriers	some people are natural communicators while others have to work on their skills.
Sender	A person who sends or transmits a message, letter, email, etc.

XII OSS_English version CHAPTER 07.indd 98 1/7/2020 6:03:14 PM