Incentive	Incentive is a motivating influence that makes a person to do something or work harder. An example of incentive is extra money offered to those employees who work extra hours on a project.
Indoctrinating	Indoctrinating refers to training the organizational members with the goals and mission of the organization can transform a neutral body into a committed body.
Influence	The power to make other people agree with your opinions.
Integrative Force	It is mainly concentrated about what, when, where and who to do the work.
Intellectual	Involving a person's ability to think and to understand ideas and information.
Interpersonal bBarriers	Poor self-esteem or an inability to make connections with others can prohibit us from actually communicating with our colleagues.
Intrinsic Motivation	Intrinsic motivation is when you do something because you enjoy it or find it interesting. This type of motivation originates inside the individual.
Laissez-faire Leadership	Leadership style in which leaders are hands-off and allow group members to make the decisions.
Language Barriers	Communicating with people whose native language is not English can pose problems.
Leader	The person who leads or commands a group, organization, or country.
Lethargic	Sluggish or apathetic.
Limiting Factor	Things which are preventing effective decision making.
Line and Staff Organization	Line function directs and staff function supports organization with specialized advisory and support functions. Authorities establish goals and directives that are then fulfilled by staff.

XII OSS_English version Practical.indd 192 1/7/2020 6:16:04 PM