

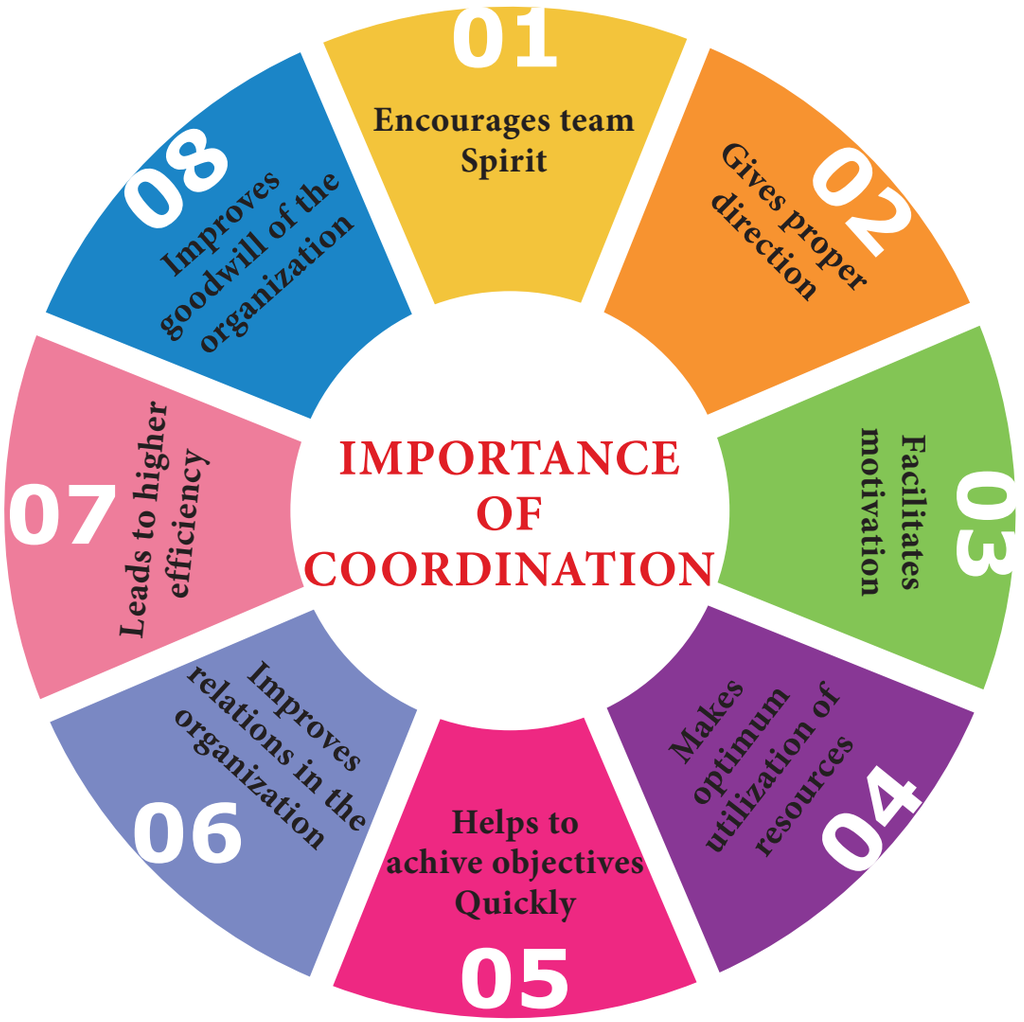

Figure 5.2 Importance of coordination

ii. Horizontal Coordination: It refers to the relationship between the persons of the same status. Coordination between the departmental heads, supervisors and co-workers in the organisation is an instance for horizontal coordination.

2. External Coordination: It is the establishment of relationship among managers, executives, divisions, subdivisions and other workers. That is, the chief coordinator synchronises with market agencies, general public, competitor, technologies, agencies, different institutions and different financial institutions.

5.8 Problems in Coordination

In practice, coordination in the organisation faces certain problems listed below:

1. Natural hindrance: Due to lack of knowledge, the superior and subordinate communication gap will be raised. Therefore, it prevents effective coordination in the organisation.
2. Lack of administrative talent: Lack of administrative talent is widely applicable for the superiors in the organisation such as autocratic attitudes and non-acceptance of feedback from the subordinates.

XII OSS_English version CHAPTER 05.indd 62 1/7/2020 5:53:33 PM