FIGHTING TO SAVE THE WORLD

The people in this section are notable for their willingness to take on the full might of powerful entities to help protect the natural world as well as vulnerable communities.

The people of the Bishnoi community of Rajasthan are often considered India’s first environmentalists, as they follow a creed that requires them to protect and preserve the natural world they inhabit.

CHANDI PRASAD BHATT

1934–present