finished my manuscript, he postponed his own retirement in order to help guide it through the Press's vetting process to publication, for which I most warmly thank him. Thanks as well to Laura Harger and Kalicia Pivirotto, both of whom have taken up Stan's unfinished editorial burdens.

Finally, as with every other creative effort of my now very long life, I thank my dearest Dorothy, to whom I proposed marriage fifty-seven short years ago, after which our wonderful sons, Daniel and Adam, were born, who with their brilliant and beautiful wives, Debra and Katy, have created our three remarkable grandchildren, Sam, Max, and Sabine, all of whom I most deeply love.
