2016. (The year 2016 was chosen as historically it is estimated that it takes around eight years for an economy to recover from a debt crisis.)

The transformational changes Ratan had introduced especially after the 2001 loss saw Tata Motors' turnover increase by 2,381 per cent for the period 2001–12. In comparison, Mahindra & Mahindra's rose by 1587 per cent, Maruti's by 427 per cent, Ashok Leyland's by 455 per cent. The market cap of Tata Motors increased twenty-one times or 2063.73 per cent from 2002 to 2012.

The incredible growth of the company can in part be attributed to Ratan spending more time managing its affairs than some other group companies. He did so, of course, because he could not help it: for, as he says, his 'heart' beats with 'passion' for cars.
