general manager that I was leaving because of Parthasarathy, it would be worse.

Now it was his turn to virtually plead. I quietly packed my single bag and took the first bus out of the beautiful village. It was the beginning of a journey that would take me to great heights of rocketry in India.